PROCEEDINGS OF THE CITY BOARD OF TRUSTEES

Ordinance Adopted Permitting Sparring Exhibitions --- Merchants' License Ordinance to Be Amended

The city board of trustees met as usual in weekly session last Monday night.

A communication was received from W. J. Martin, agent for the local land company, stating that the request of the board that a piece of ground at the south end of Linden avenue be donated by the land company to the city for park and playground purposes could not be entertained at this time. Mr. Martin, who was present, explained that owing to the possibility of the Panama-Pacific Exposition being located at that point no action would be taken by the company's directors until that question is settled.

Upon motion of Trustee Cunningham, seconded by Trustee Healy, the communication was ordered placed on file, the matter to be taken up at a later date.

The ordinance introduced at a previous meeting by Trustee Healy providing that sparring exhibitions may be given in this city on payment of a license of $1200 per year was adopted and ordered to print.

An application for a permit to conduct sparring exhibitions under the provisions of the ordinance was presented by Geo. Wallace, secretary of the Sunshine Athletic Club.

Citizens E. E. Cunningham and Wm. Jenkins suggested that the whole matter be postponed for a time, on account of the Jeffries-Johnson prize fight having been stopped by Governor Gillett.

Upon motion the permit was granted.

Trustee Hickey announced that at the next meeting of the board he would introduce an amendment to the merchants' license ordinance which will provide that business men who sell their labor only, such as barbers, blacksmiths, etc., shall not pay a license.

P. Hughes, a stableman, whose place of business is located at 324 Thirtieth street, San Francisco, appeared before the board and stated that a horse that had been sold by Poundmaster Clements a few weeks ago belonged to a customer of his.

S. Lombardi of San Bruno, to whom the horse was sold for $55, who was also present, stated that he was willing to return the horse to its owner if he was reimbursed the money he expended.

Upon motion, a warrant was ordered drawn in favor of Mr. Lombardi, in the sum of $42.50, the balance of $12.50 pound fees to make the $55 to be paid to Mr. Lombardi by the owner of the horse. This settlement proved satisfactory to all concerned.

Upon motion, it was decided to employ a registered accountant to expert the books of the city officials.

Claims against the city, as follows, were allowed: James Smith, labor, $7.50; A. G. Bissett, sprinkling streets, watering trees, hauling rock, etc., $110.60.

Upon motion, Contractor Scott was allowed the sum of $200 on account of work macadamizing Grand avenue.

SUPERVISORS HOLD REGULAR MEETING

The board of supervisors held its regular mid-month session in its new quarters in the new court house last Monday.

The meeting room is elegantly and substantially furnished with hardwood desks, tables and leather-seat chairs. The floor is covered with battleship linoleum. The upper part of the walls and ceilings are cream tinted; the lower part of the walls are dark green with russet band around. The room is divided by a hardwood railing, to the rear of which are chairs for the audience.

A fifty-foot American flag flew to the breeze from a 140-foot pole in the court house grounds in honor of the opening of the courthouse for legislative business.

A communication was received from the United Railroads company asking what part of Mission road it had made encroachments upon. The matter was referred to Supervisor Casey, who with Surveyor Neuman will make an adjustment.

After considerable argument by Attorneys Hall C. Ross, for A. M. Easton, and W. P. Hubbard, for protestants residing in the town of Easton, advice by District Attorney Bullock, and questioning by members of the board, the following resolution was introduced and adopted:

"Whereas the district attorney has advised this board that by virtue of a certain statute, this board has no power to proceed towards selling the franchise on certain roads or avenues in Easton, since it is within ninety days of a general election,

"Now, therefore, be it, and it is hereby resolved that this board now rescind, vacate and set aside each and all and every proceeding had and taken in the matter of the sale of a franchise over certain streets or avenues in Easton, application for the sale of which franchise has been made by A. M. Easton."

By resolution, the sum of $22,838.52 was ordered transferred from the general fund to the courthouse building fund in order that a balance of that amount due to the J. J. O'Brien Construction Co. of San Francisco could be paid for the construction of the new courthouse.

Geo. W. Hall, principal of the San Mateo grammar schools, and Miss Emily Leighton, a teacher at Pescadero, were elected as members of the county board of education, succeeding themselves.

Superintendent Ford asked the board to appoint a day to visit the county farm for the purpose of inspecting the water supply with a view of increasing it, and to examine some of the buildings that are in need of repair. It was agreed to meet at the farm Thursday, the surveyor and courthouse superintendent to accompany the party.

FOUNDERS OF THE CITY OF SOUTH SAN FRANCISCO

THE SOUTH SAN FRANCISCO LAND AND IMPROVEMENT COMPANY designed in its original plan to make of South San Francisco a great manufacturing center. With that object in view, it originally purchased 3500 acres of land in San Mateo County, on the bay front, five miles south of the City of San Francisco. Since the original purchase, the company has added greatly to its holdings by the purchase of large tracts of adjoining lands, giving to it a perfect environment for the complete development of a great manufacturing city.

The faith which this Company had in its enterprise has been manifest to everyone by the large expenditure it has made in the development of this property. Every foundation which goes to make a perfect condition for manufacture has been already solidly installed, and is a rapidly growing city; it is a railroad terminal; it is on the main line of the Southern Pacific Railroad, and accessible to all railroads; has deep water communication; owns and operates for its industries a railroad connecting with the Southern Pacific and the water front; has electric street car service from factory to Town, and direct to San Francisco; has an Electric Light and Power Company; owns an independent Water Works, and has an abundance of fresh water for factory and house; has wharves and docks; a perfect sewerage system; a Bank and a Town Hall; and a population of over 3000 people an extensive and fine residence district, where everyone may secure lands at reasonable prices and on favorable terms, as homes for themselves and their families.

FACTORY SITES

can be obtained from the South San Francisco Land and Improvement Company on most reasonable terms.

The completion of the Bay Shore Tunnels has placed South San Francisco on the main lines of the Southern Pacific Railroad, and forty passenger trains per day connect it with the outside world.

With the completion of the Dumbarton Bridge and Cutoff, now rapidly being constructed, South San Francisco will have all railroads which center in San Francisco passing through its midst.

Many industries are already established here, chief of which are the Western Meat Company, the Wool Pullery, the Soap Works, the Baden Brick Company, Pacific Jupiter Steel Company, the Steiger Pottery Works, the W. P. Fuller White Lead Works, the South San Francisco Lumber and Supply Company, and other enterprises, all of which are in full operation to-day. The American Smelting and Refining Company has purchased over 300 acres of land in South San Francisco for the purpose of erecting a great plant, which they estimate will cost upwards of $5,000,000. The Doak Sheet Steel Company has purchased a large tract of land and has already commenced the construction of a large rolling mill. Other factories have recently made purchases, and South San Francisco is plainly destined to fulfill all that its promoters had hoped.

In the selection of a site for the Panama-Pacific Exhibition there are many things to be considered. The site question is many sided and full of angles. For instance: Should the site be within the present corporate limits of San Francisco, or may it be beyond, and serve as well or better the best interests of the city? The answer to this question is dependable; many factors may enter into its solution.

To illustrate: Should the exposition managers decide that all moneys raised shall be used to provide the exposition with temporary buildings only, to be pulled down and removed when the show closes, then the exposition might be held inside or outside San Francisco, provided only that it will be accessible to the great body of people who will visit it.

If, however, the managers decide that the money raised by San Francisco, or a portion thereof, shall be used to build permanent buildings and acquire land for future uses, then the site should be in the city, or so near and accessible as to be suitable and adapted to future use by the city. In this connection it is well to keep in view that San Francisco as the chief seaport and principal mart of the Pacific Ocean must become one of the great cities of the world; and that her present area will very soon be absolutely inadequate for the business and population of her future.

Again, the corollary of this latter proposition must enter into the answer, viz: That with the growth of all great cities, the avenues and facilities of suburban rapid transit are multiplied, improved and cheapened beyond present possible calculation. These considerations count in favor of Tanforan as the site for the exposition. Should it become a part of the exposition plan to lay the foundation for a permanent addition to the attractions San Francisco will have to offer to visitors as well as to her own people, one of the exposition buildings could be used to house the annual state agricultural fairs heretofore held at Sacramento. At Tanforan there is an ideal site and climate for a state fair. Instead of the hot, debilitating climate of the interior, here the cool salt trade winds would not only draw crowds of people from everywhere, but put them in a state of physical vigor and consequent mental and physical enjoyment.

Situated as it would be then in the center of a population of over one million people, the state fairs would no longer be a drag and disappointment financially and industrially.

This feature is but one of the many that can be made a part of the permanent grounds and buildings at Tanforan on the bay of San Francisco.

The republican party is on trial. If this great national political organization passes the present crisis successfully, and escapes defeat, its success will be due to President Taft and the so-called republican insurgent element in congress. President Taft was elected on a platform pledging certain definite reforms to the American people.

Being an honest man, as well as a loyal American, President Taft felt bound to see the party platform pledges made good. After election, and upon his inauguration, President Taft was confronted with a congress in which his own party was predominant with a large majority of his party in congress out of sympathy with the purpose and pledges of the republican national platform.

All intelligent Americans understand the situation. They understand that Taft had a seemingly impossible work to accomplish.

To come at once to the heart of the matter. Every intelligent American understands that all the so-called republican insurgent congressmen were without exception in favor of all the reforms of the republican national platform.

President Taft understood this better by far than anyone else. But the insurgents were a mere handful, just numerous enough, with the democratic minority, to turn that minority on a test vote into a majority. When it came to the real test, on a vote, to prevent the reform bills of the Taft administration from being emasculated, these insurgents at times made alliance with the democratic minority to prevent the defeat of the promises of the national republican party.

Aldrich and Cannon and other republican representatives of the interests came into camp when they saw that insurgents could and would combine with the democratic minority to prevent the defeat of the proposed republican reforms.

The pledges of the republican national platform for reform in government have for the most part been made good, and are to be a part of the laws of the United States, and for this victory of the people President Taft and republican insurgent congressmen are to be thanked.

TAX COLLECTOR M'CRACKEN DIES

Dr. C. L. McCracken, since 1905 tax collector for San Mateo county, died yesterday afternoon at 1:30 at his home in Redwood City of heart trouble. He had been in poor health for some time. A few days prior to his death he became worse and his death was not unexpected. He leaves a widow and a son 16 years old to mourn his demise, as well as scores of personal friends.

TERSE CALIFORNIA NEWS

Not a California Congressional district is overlooked in the public buildings bill in Congress. The allowance of $500,000 for the San Francisco Sub-Treasury is the largest item. Twenty-five thousand dollars for the preliminary plans will be available during the coming fiscal year, the $475,000 continuing. Grass Valley is given $55,000 for a Postoffice building, the site already having been secured. Berkeley receives $180,000 for a Post-office building and site, Chico $100,000 for the same purpose and Hanford $75,000 for the purchase of sites; $20,000 is appropriated for Bakersfield, $40,000 for Long Beach and $20,000 for San Bernardino. Pasadena gets $200,000 for a Postoffice building, $25,000 of which will be available the coming year.

Another forty-acre tract of land belonging to the famous Stanford ranch at Vina has been filed on by a prospective settler. This makes the fourth filing on the Stanford ranch. The latest to squat on the land that has heretofore been supposed to be safe in the possession of the Leland Stanford estate is George Tompkins of Chico. The filing was made in the Land Office at Sacramento. The land is known as Shaw field and is situated adjoining the Mary Lightfoot orchard. Tompkins states that he will begin the erection of his home next week. He is ready for a fight with the university people and says he is certain that his filing will hold, the same as those of Morrison, Clark and Foster, who have already filed on tracts in the ranch, and one of whom, Foster, has his home on his filing.

CHARLTON CAUGHT AT STEAMER PIER

Admits Killing Wife With Mallet In Mutual Loss of Temper

The Lake Como murder mystery is solved. Porter Charlton, an American youth of good family, sought by the police of two continents, was arrested in Hoboken, N. J., shortly before noon, June 23d, as he stepped from the North German Lloyd liner Prinzess Irene. In less than an hour he had confessed that in a fit of temper he beat his wife into insensibility with a mallet, jammed her body in a trunk and sunk it in the waters of the Italian lake.

Runs Into Brother-in-Law.

Fleeing from Italy under an assumed name, almost penniless and shabby of dress, Charlton, on landing, ran straight into the arms of Captain Henry Harrison Scott, U. S. A., the murdered wife's brother. He was taken to police headquarters at Hoboken where, after a pitiable collapse, he regained his composure and unflinchingly signed the confession. He is behind the bars in the Hoboken City Jail pending settlement of the complicated problem of extradition brought about by his arrest.

Captain Scott's foresight, directed so accurately that it falls little short of a premonition, resulted in young Charlton's arrest. Stationed at Fort Wright on Fisher's island, off New London, Conn., Captain Scott obtained hurried leave of absence and went to Hoboken to scan the passengers of incoming liners. Three Hoboken detectives aided him.

Confession Made by Charlton.

Within half an hour after his arrest, Porter Charlton had signed the following statement:

"My wife and I lived happily together. She was the best woman in the world to me, but she had an ungovernable temper. So had I. We frequently quarreled over the most trivial matters and her language to me was frequently so foul that I knew she did not know the meaning of it.

"The night I struck her she had been quarreling with me. She was in the worst temper I had ever seen her in. I told her if she did not cease I would leave her and put a stop to it. She stopped for a little while and started again.

"I took a mallet, which I had used to do household repairs, and struck her three times. I thought she was dead. I put the body in a trunk in which I also threw the mallet.

"About 12 o'clock that night I moved the trunk from the house, dragged it to a small pier near the house, and threw it overboard. I remained at Malpaiso the next day and left the following night for Genoa, where I took the steamer Irene three days later. The room where I killed her was an outdoor sleeping apartment.

"PORTER CHARLTON."

At the suggestion of an attorney, whose services he secured shortly after his arrival at the police station, Charlton added this postscript to his statement:

"I have been informed that C. K. Ispolatoff has been implicated, and I wish to state that this gentleman is absolutely guiltless. I have no defense to make and don't wish to.

"PORTER CHARLTON."

After he had made his confession and been locked up Charlton made a statement in which he insisted that he did not remember what day it was on which he killed his wife. Charlton's narrative follows:

"Mrs. Charlton and I sailed for Italy on the steamer Duc d'Aosta on April 16th. We had been living at the Woodward on Fifty-fifth street, New York City, after our marriage, which took place in Wilmington, Del., March 12th. We landed at Genoa some ten days after leaving New York, and remained three days. I think I can say we were as happy as two cooing doves during those days and our honeymoon was one round of pleasure.

"I did not have much money, but Mrs. Charlton had quite a little, and on that we lived, it being her desire that we spend what she had on our honeymoon. We heard so much of Lake Como and read so much of its wonderful charms and glorious scenery that we decided to go there. We found a cottage, a pretty, bowered place, but a stone's throw from the shores of the lake. We rented it at a ridiculously small price—so small I would not even mention it. There we lived together for a few weeks in the highest honeymoon bliss.

Had Many Quarrels.

"We had quarrels, many of them. She was high-strung and nervous, and I have a quarreling disposition, too. That night she was reading for a while, and then something happened.

It was a most trivial thing, but she became very angry. I got angry, too. Presently she said something I could not stand. I flew at her and struck her. I seized the mallet I had been working with and smashed her on the head again and again. Her body had fallen to the floor and she lay stone dead, as I believed and still believe.

Sat Long While by Body.

"I sat a long while by her wondering what to do. Then I went downstairs and brought up the trunk. It was not hard work getting the body into the trunk. I then closed up the trunk and tied it. Then I bounced it downstairs and got it to the dock at the foot of our lawn. There I tumbled the trunk into the water and went back to the house."

MISS CARTER AND A LORD MARRIED

Ceremony in London at Church of St. George

Mildred Carter, the only daughter of John Ridgley Carter, American Minister to Roumania, Serbia and Bulgaria, and Lord Acheson, elder son of Lord and Lady Gosford, were married at St. George's Church in Hanover Square, London, Tuesday afternoon. This was one of the weddings of the season which had been anticipated with much interest by the late King Edward, because of the close connection of the parents of the bridegroom with the royal household, and his majesty's personal friendship for Mr. Carter. King Edward had expressed his intention of being present at the ceremony with the Queen and other members of the royal family. As it was the list of guests was a long one, Canon Sheppard, subdean of the Chapels Royal, officiated, assisted by Rev. Mr. Anderson, rector of St. George's. Miss Carter wore a gown of white satin draped with old Venetian lace and a veil of point de Venise. A rope of pearls, the gift of Lord and Lady Gosford, was her only jewelry. The bridegroom was accompanied by his brother, Lieutenant Patrick Acheson of the Royal Navy.

ALASKAN WILL CELEBRATE

After Score of Years in North, Has Returned.

F. J. Renark, a miner from Alaska who arrived at the Del Monte Hotel, Monterey county, has made a strange request of the management. And the request has been granted.

Renark, who has spent almost 20 years in the mining fields of the north and owns a number of valuable properties, said this will be the first Fourth of July in 18 years that he has spent in a modern community. In view of this fact, and his desire to celebrate not only the national holiday, but his own return to civilization, he asked permission to give a display of fireworks at his own expense.

The request was promptly acceded to, although the old miner evidently didn't care whether it was granted or not. On his arrival he had brought with him a quantity of fireworks that would dazzle even the inhabitants of Chinatown. He was going to celebrate anyhow, he said, but out of courtesy to the management thought it best to secure its consent and co-operation.

The management has adopted his idea and proposes to join him in a "rip-roaring" Fourth. Illuminations of novel and unique designs are being prepared, but the official program will not be permitted to interfere in the least with the plans of the miner who "has made a pile," and proposes to celebrate in an old-fashioned way.

CANNON SCORES CRITICS

The old rules of the House were defended, and critics of the Speaker were severely scored by Speaker Cannon in a brief address late in the session of the House last Friday. Cannon contended that the rules as amended by the Fifty-first Congress, and as enforced by him, had never interfered with the will of the majority of the House when an actual majority had objected to any proposition. He scored newspaper and magazine writers who had criticized him, and declared that they had proceeded from a lack of knowledge and upon false premises.

The venerable Speaker was greeted with cheers from his Republican colleagues when he had concluded. Representative Cooper of Wisconsin, one of the leading "insurgents," attempted to reply, but there was objection, and no one had an opportunity to answer the Speaker's argument.

YOUNG ROOSEVELT MARRIES

Eleanor Butler Alexander and Theodore, Jr., Married in New York

In the presence of 1500 persons Theodore Roosevelt Jr., son of the ex-President of the United States, and Miss-Eleanor Butler Alexander, daughter of Mrs. Henry Alexander, were married at the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church, New York, on June 20. One of the biggest crowds ever attracted to view a bridal party stood in the glaring heat outside the church, at Fifth avenue and Fifty-first street, and a cordon of 250 policemen, a hundred of them mounted, were kept busy handling the spectators. Many were attracted to get a glimpse of Colonel Roosevelt as he arrived to attend his son's wedding.

The service was read by Rev. Dr. Henry M. Sanders, great-uncle of the bride, assisted by Dr. Gordon Russell of Cranford, N. J. Mrs. Alexander gave her daughter away, and Kermit

THE NEW MRS. ROOSEVELT

Roosevelt was best man. Through the white bowers of the church, done entirely in roses and lilies, thrilled the strains of musical selections rendered by Naham Franko's orchestra. Eight hundred persons were invited to the reception at the home of the bride's uncle, Charles B. Alexander, on West Fifty-eighth street, following the wedding.

Just at the last minute Colonel Roosevelt remembered that his former regiment of Rough Riders was in town, and that it had not been invited. That would not do at all, and in no time Kenneth D. Robinson was hurrying around to the Rough Rider headquarters at the Hotel Buckingham to tell the boys to jump into their uniforms and come along. There was a mighty scurrying about for uniforms, and strenuous efforts to round up the missing. Nearly fifty of the men managed to get together, and, marching two abreast, reached the church in time to add a military touch to the wedding.

After the honeymoon is over the bridal couple will live at San Francisco, where young Roosevelt will enter business.

ROOSEVELT IN HIS OFFICE

Goes to His Office and Puts in a Strenuous Forenoon.

Theodore Roosevelt on Monday began the life he has chosen for himself as a private citizen. He has his own ideas of what the country shall do with its ex-Presidents, and, after a single day of rest at Sagamore Hill, took up his work as a contributing editor of the Outlook.

Not even the fact that his son was to be married in the afternoon detained him from his desk. The dispatch boat Dolphin, on which Mr. Roosevelt left Oyster Bay with Secretary Meyer as his host, brought him into New York early in the morning. He went direct to his office and immediately plunged into the mountain of correspondence accumulated. Two hours later he appeared on the street and was immediately recognized by the crowd. Before he had walked half a block westward toward Fifth avenue he was followed by a throng that blockaded the sidewalk. The sun was beating down with an intensity that made a top hat unendurable.

State Dairy Bureau Active.

Warrants have been issued for the arrest of C. Silva and J. Anderson, two restaurant proprietors of San Leandro, on the charge of selling adulterated milk to their patrons. The complaints were sworn to by N. J. Lund, an inspector of the State Dairy Bureau, who has commenced a crusade against impure milk in that district.

As the result of the giving away of a thin ledge of rock at the Sites stone quarry, twenty miles west of Colusa, Percy L. Smith is dead, his right foot being almost severed from his leg and his left leg being terribly mangled just below the knee. The physicians had hope of saving the injured man, but he died from internal injuries. John Heigel, who was carried down with the falling rock, which precipitated the men a distance of almost fifty feet, was pinned under a huge boulder, it requiring the combined efforts of several men to extricate him. He is in a precarious condition from internal injuries, but it is believed that he will recover. While attempting to rescue Heigel, Al Malonson was struck by a flying rock and rendered unconscious. His injuries, however, were slight.

cious and neat rooms at the front. Herman says that he got the building inspiration from reading The Enterprise and desires to keep pace with the rapid strides of the improvements now going on.

Carpenters under the guidance of Dick Stickle are rushing work on the Methodist Church. The mill work will arrive from San Jose during the week and the doors and windows will be set in position, thus assuring comfort for the congregation and visitors Sunday forenoon at the dedication services.

Contractor A. Lund has completed the house that will hold a 30,000 gallon water tank. The work is a credit to Mr. Lund's workmanship. The foundation and underpinning will support a tank with twice the capacity of the one to be installed. By this improvement the water supply in San Bruno will be materially increased. Parties from elsewhere want Mr. Lund to build a tank house for them. They consider his job a first class one.

A connoisseur would be puzzled to suggest anything wanting to add beauty and comfort to the artistic conveniences of the home of Isaac Hall of Belle Air. But not so with Mr. Hall as an artisan of repute when it comes to placing brick. He has just finished a fireplace and a beautiful mantel for the reception of a valuable collection of bric-a-brac which will adorn the front, thus completing the interior embellishments.

To-morrow morning at 10 o'clock the dedication of the new Methodist Church on the Mission road will take place. District Superintendent Evans, Rev. D. Ralston, the pastor, and several distinguished elders from different circuits in California will take a prominent part in the ceremonies. The San Bruno choir in conjunction with that of South San Francisco, under the leadership of Miss Tobias, will lead in song. The two choirs are highly proficient in the selections customary for this occasion. They have been practicing for the last two months at the store of J. F. Cook where an excellent piano helped to bring out the efforts so much desired. The singing promises to be a very important feature of the exercises. A cordial invitation is extended to the people of both San Bruno and South San Francisco to be present.

The following nominations for offices were made by the Women of Woodcraft at a meeting held last Monday evening: Grand neighbor, Mrs. G. W. Edwards; adviser, Mrs. Nora Thomas; magician Mrs. May Mathewson; at tentant, Mrs. Jos. S. Venable; manager, Mrs. L. Hudson; outside sentinel, Mrs. A. Pudsey; inside sentinel, Mrs. H. Palmer.

For a royal time go to Town Hall next Tuesday evening when the Yeomen will give a dance. Whist and other games will also conduce to the evening's cheer. If you don't dance come anyway and bring your pipe along and join the Bill Nye club who will hold sway in the smoking room and listen to spellbinders tell yarns. You will want to come again. Everybody invited. Admittance free.

County Clerk Joe Nash has appointed Dan Lynch as a deputy clerk to register voters. Monday and Thursday evenings will be the set nights for registration, change of party affiliation, etc.—Monday evening at Lynch's building at the crossing, and Thursday evening at the San Mateo avenue fire house. Any person physically incapacitated and unable to reach the designated places can send postal or other notice and his registration will be attended to. It behooves every voter to get busy, as only three weeks more remain before the closing of registration for the primary election.

The San Bruno Council of the Y. M. I. was formally instituted and officers installed Thursday evening at Green's Hall. A large number of charter members had signed the roll and were ably obligated by visiting members from Nos. 1 and 35 of San Francisco. Visitors from San Mateo were also present. The beautiful and instructive ritual of the order was used by the installing officers, and the large audience present was very favorably impressed thereby and enthusiastically wished the young council every success. The degree work was put on by Benjamin McKinley, Rev. Father Grant, chaplain; Geo. A. Stanley, grand secretary; Stanislaus Riley and John P. Duffy. Future meetings will be held alternately in San Mateo, San Bruno and South San Francisco. At the close of the ceremonies coffee and sandwiches were served.

J. J. Hearne, fifth addition, proves himself an artist of no mean ability. He is now giving the finishing touches here and there and harmonizing the colors to conform with the interior fixtures of his residence recently remodeled. The trade winds of the summer or the fury of the wintry blasts will have no effect in producing any discomfiture in future, as Mr. Hearne has made weather conditions a study since coming here three years ago. For completeness in all essentials and details one would travel far to find superior plans and all that goes to make a comfortable home.

An old saying is, "He who hesitates is lost." While San Bruno proclaimed to the world a short time ago that she was going to incorporate, a fraternal feeling of other incorporated cities and towns felt the glad acclaim and shouted back a sisterly greeting, but the echo must have fallen on soil more fertile, as Colma and vicinity has taken up the refrain and is joyously anticipating a monster mass meeting at Colma Hall, Colma, to-morrow morning at 10:30. Incorporation will be the theme of local and other speakers. Music will intersperse the pauses, whilst the citizens ponder over the sledge hammer blows of its more ardent boosters.

A communication was received from a nearby community last week written by a person who seemed to have a grievance and desired to have it printed in the San Bruno columns for exploiting a matter that in no way concerns this burg. We believe that the intelligence of any community on the Peninsula can attend to all differences of opinion which may arise in their own midst from time to time and settle them amicably by themselves with a great deal more satisfaction and with less friction and hard feelings than if an outside influence were brought to bear on one side or the other. An outside influence would, after all, only reflect the views of a single individual, and after taking a side more or less prejudice would be injected into the controversy, for naturally the knowledge and leanings would be supplied from a source that is usually committed to a narrow line of thought, or having personal interests either from friendship or sordid motives, would not appeal to the public interests from which all of the people are perhaps vitally interested, but left to themselves will, with a greater degree of complacency, solve their internal problems compatible to the greater number involved. Not wishing to voice a sentiment and an argument not understood and entirely foreign to our own interests, we must respectfully decline
